DUBROVNIK

EN-----

In talking about the gastro-cultural heritage of Dubrovnik, we are referring to an area stretching far beyond the administrative limits of Dubrovnik itself, from Konavle (the "Croatian Tuscany") up to the Pelješac Peninsula (where the finest Croatian wines are made), across Župa, the city of Dubrovnik, the Elaphiti Islands, and the Dubrovnik Littoral.

Dubrovnik and its surroundings have suffered from the pressure of uncontrolled mass tourism in the last 20 years, and this is literally erasing features of local culture in the name of uniform global taste. This guide highlights those restaurants, taverns, and shops that are trying as hard as they can to preserve and promote local production and Dubrovnik's distinctive gastronomy.

HR-----

Kada govorimo o dubrovačkoj gastro-kulturnoj baštini, govorimo o području koje se proteže daleko izvan današnjeg administrativnog teritorija Grada Dubrovnika: ono ide od «hrvatske Toskane» – Konavala, sve do carstva ponajboljih hrvatskih vina – poluotoka Pelješca, preko Župe, samoga Grada, Elafitskih otoka i Dubrovačkog primorja.

Dubrovnik i okolica u posljednjih su dvadeset godina pod strahovitim pritiskom nekontroliranog masovnog turizma koji doslovno briše značajke lokalne kulture uniformirajući je prema «globalnom» ukusu, koji naposljetku nije ničiji ukus. Ovaj vodič nastoji uključiti one restaurane, konobe i dućane koji se trude raditi što je moguće više na očuvanju i vrednovanju lokalne proizvodnje i dubrovačke gastronomije.

Hidden Treasure

The far south of Croatia, which formed the Republic of Ragusa (Dubrovačka Republika) between the 14th and 19th centuries, hosts a rich but largely hidden food heritage. A systematic tourist offer based on the promotion of sustainable, traditional food production in Dubrovnik has only just started being developed, so traveling in the Dubrovnik region might be challenging for users of this guide; however, it is also an opportunity for "slow" travelers to become gastronomic detectives.

Every person and place mentioned in this guide is a source of precious information and a starting point for further exploration.

This guide will allow you to engage in responsible tourism, turning your visit into an important contribution to the preservation of local food culture: You will have a chance to engage with local people, share their meals, and truly get to know their way of life.

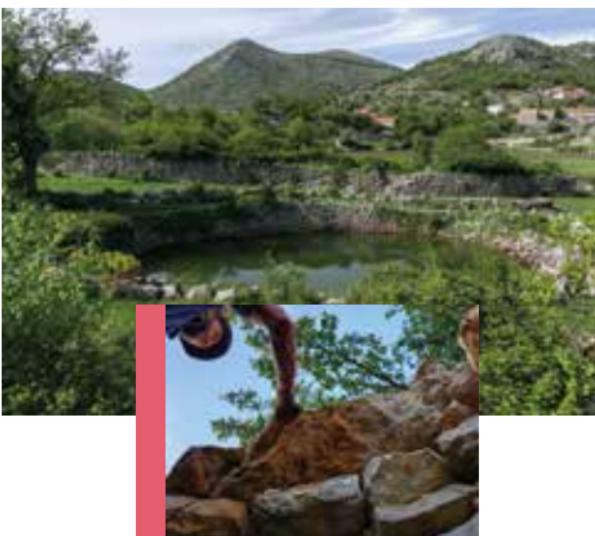

KONAVLE

Known as the “granary” of the Republic of Ragusa, Konavle is a highly intact rural landscape full of traces of the past. To learn about the history of Konavle, visit Konavle County Museum, which houses a rich ethnographic and archaeological collection. And don’t miss the Ljuta River, a piece of paradise on Earth where you can walk beneath the laurel trees and see the old watermills where flour and olive oil used to be made—some of the mills have been renovated, and one is operational. There are also a few taverns not far from the mills, among which Vinica Monković stands out: Here you can sit by the river and enjoy local cuisine and wines.

Koraćeva kuća, in Gruda, is a great example of a family tavern, where every detail of the interior and the menu tells the story of Konavle.

Konavle is full of extraordinary examples of dry stone construction, mostly linked to agriculture. Led by landscape architect Anita Trojanović, a group of young people is working to preserve the local dry stone heritage.

EN-

After the Croatian War of Independence in the early 1990s, the revival of wine-making in Konavle helped recover the ancient local grape known as Dubrovnik Malvasia (or Malvasija Dubrovačka). The Crvić and Karaman winemaking families in particular have helped bring this variety to its fullest expression.

ŽUPA DUBROVAČKA

Like Konavle, Župa Dubrovačka was once a vital agricultural area that fed Dubrovnik's population. Today, few families are involved in food production, but some are inspiring hope that the agricultural tradition can come back. OPG Grbić Pajo is a family farm that produces local varieties of fruit and vegetables and delivers them to the doors of interested buyers.

DUBROVNIK

Without a local guide, it can be hard to navigate the sea of restaurants that have flooded the Old Town and its surroundings. Many restaurants have adapted their menus to the taste of "average" tourists, but there are more exciting examples in the new Dubrovnik culinary scene that want to nurture local gastronomy.

Make sure to visit Kopun in the Old Town and Pantarul in Lapad. If you are in the mood for a more intimate atmosphere and a glass of local wine, check out Tavulin in a hidden corner of the Old Town.

Beer was not always part of Dubrovnik's tradition, but the young Dubrovnik Beer Company is a praiseworthy project that has enriched the local food scene with craft beers and turned part of a former industrial zone into a brewery and gathering place for young people.

One of the symbols of Dubrovnik's gastronomy is the bitter orange: These trees used to decorate all of Dubrovnik's gardens. If you want to know how marmalade and arancini (candied orange rind) are prepared, and discover the role of women in the preservation of local traditions, you must visit Association Deša in the beautiful Lazzarettos of Dubrovnik.

For a glimpse of what Dubrovnik could become in terms of high-quality local food products, take a trip up Srđ hill, right behind Dubrovnik's historic center. In this beautiful landscape, the last green oasis of the city, Ilar Paskojević raises local Croatian breeds of cows, horses, chickens, goats, and donkeys.

ŠIPAN ISLAND

This island was once famous for its vast olive groves and olive oil production. Today several families are patiently revitalizing the cultivation of the traditional olive varieties that were the backbone of the local economy. The Goravica family is also working to restore the local carob variety for the production of carob flour, and they offer olive oil from the local varieties piculja and kosmača.

In the Mali Ston Bay, you can savor the long tradition of mussel and oyster cultivation, and just over the hill you can see the saltworks and the impressive walls that protected them for centuries.

The natural beauty of Pelješac is difficult to describe in words, so you're better off experiencing it for yourself. This area produces some of the best wines in the world, and three wineries – Miloš, Križ, and Bartulović – stand out with their vision of organic cultivation and the use of local varieties such as plavac mali, rukatac, and grk. All pioneers of Slow Food on Pelješac, together with the Vukas family they lead the production of Pelješac Varenik, a traditional syrup prepared from the cooked must of plavac mali grapes. A Slow Food Presidium was created in 2016 to preserve and promote this product. These four families, whose presence on the peninsula goes back many generations, will teach you about the history of not only winemaking, but also livestock, olive oil production, and agriculture in general.

Skriveno blago

Krajnji jug Hrvatske, koji je od 14. do 19. stoljeća bio teritorij slavne Dubrovačke Republike, dom je iznimno bogate, ali i dalje prilično skrivenе gastrokulturne baštine. Turistička ponuda utemeljena na promociji održive, tradicijske proizvodnje hrane u Dubrovniku je na svojim početcima, što putovanje po dubrovačkom kraju čini izazovnjim, a „slow“ putnicima pruža mogućnost da postanu neka vrsta gastro detektiva. Svaku osobu i mjesto navedeno u vodiču promatrajte kao izvor dragocjenih informacija i putokaz za daljnje istraživanje.

Ovaj je vodič način da budete dio odgovornog turizma i da svojim posjetom doprinesete očuvanju lokalne gastrokulture: imat ćete priliku kroz zajedničke obroke, razgovor i druženje zbilja upoznati lokalne ljudе i njihov način života.

KONAVLE

Nekadašnja „žitnica“ Dubrovačke Republike, Konavle, i dan su danas u velikoj mjeri očuvan krajolik prepun tragova prošlih vremena. Ako želite sazнати više o lokalnoj povijesti i običajima podite u Zavičajni muzej Konavala koji posjeduje bogatu etnografsku i arheološku zbirku. Vaš posjet ne može zaobići rijeku Ljutu koja je sama po sebi pravi mali raj na zemlji. Na njoj se nalazi sustav kamenih mlinova za brašno i stupa na vodu izgrađen u vrijeme Republike. Nekoliko je mlinova obnovljeno, ali samo je jedan u funkciji. Nedaleko od mlinova nalazi se i nekoliko konoba, među kojima se izdvaja Vinica Monković u kojoj, sjedeći uz samu rijeku, možete uživati u lokalnoj kuhinji i vinima. No pravi primjer obiteljske konobe svakako je Koraćeva kuća na Grudi, u kojoj svaki detalj interijera i jelovnika pripovijeda priču o Konavlima.

Konavle su prepune iznimnih primjera suhozidne arhitekture koja je usko povezana s poljodjelstvom. Grupa mladih ljudi, koju predvodi krajobrazna arhitektica Anita Trojanović, radi na očuvanju suhozidne baštine i poznaje sve njezine oblike u konavoskom kraju.

Nakon Domovinskog rata vinarstvo u Konavlima dobilo je novi zamah koji je omogućio potpunu revitalizaciju lokalne autohtone sorte Dubrovačke malvasije. Svoje vrhunske baštinike ova sorta pronašla je u obiteljima Crvik i Karaman.

Kada je smještaj u pitanju, nećete pogriješiti ako se prepustite vodstvu članova udruge Konavoska kuća. Svaka od obitelji kod koje možete odsjesti nepresušni je izvor lokalne povijesti i običaja, a interijeri starih kuća nakon su rata obnovljeni tako da čuvaju izvorni izgled i namještaj.

ŽUPA DUBROVAČKA

Župa dubrovačka nekada je bila izrazito poljoprivredno područje koje je hranilo Dubrovnik. Danas je malo obitelji koje se bave proizvodnjom hrane, no nekoliko primjera ulijeva nadu da će se ovaj trend preokrenuti. Među njima je OPG Grbić Pajo, obitelj koja je odlučila proizvoditi lokalne sorte voća i povrća i dostavljati ih zainteresiranim na kućni prag.

DUBROVNIK

U Dubrovniku se, bez lokalnog Slow Food vodiča, iznimno teško snaći u moru restorana koje je preplavilo staru gradsku jezgru i njezinu okolicu. Većina restorana svoju je ponudu prilagodila ukusu „prosječnog“ turista, no nekoliko svijetlih primjera, ponajviše nove dubrovačke gastroscene, itekako želi vrednovati lokalnu gastronomiju.

Stoga nemojte zaobići restoran Kopun u staroj gradskoj jezgri i Pantarul u Lapadu. Ako ste za intimnije ozračje i žmuo (čašu) lokalnog vina, posjetite Tavulin u skrivenom kutku stare gradske jezgre.

Iako pivo nije dio lokalne tradicije, hvaljenvijedan poduzetnički projekt pod nazivom Dubrovnik Beer Company lokalnu je ponudu obogatio dubrovačkim craft pivima, pretvarajući dio nekadašnje industrijske zone grada u pivovaru i novo okupljalište mladih.

Jedan od simbola dubrovačke gastronomije ljuta je naranča čija su stabla nekada krasila sve dubrovačke vrtove. Ako želite saznati kako se pripremaju marmelada i arancini, te saznati niz detalja o ulozi žena u očuvanju lokalnih tradicija cijelog dubrovačkog kraja, morate posjetiti Udrugu Deša u prekrasnom prostoru dubrovačkih Lazareta.

Tko želi dublje proučiti povijest hrane, svakako treba posjetiti Etnografski muzej koji se nalazi u zgradи nekadašnje žitnice Dubrovačke Republike.

STON I PELJEŠAC

Nekada drugi grad Dubrovačke Republike nedvojbeno ima najveći gastronomski potencijal u cijeloj regiji. Solana, školjkarstvo i pelješka vina tri su aduta koja nikoga neće ostaviti ravnodušnim.

U Malostonskom zaljevu upoznat ćete i kušati dugu tradiciju uzgoja dagnji i kamenica, a u stonskoj solani saznati što su impozantne zidine štitile stoljećima.

Iskustvo boravka na Pelješcu, u prekrasnoj prirodi, doživljaj je koji je riječima teško opisati. Na poluotoku se danas proizvode neka od ponajboljih svjetskih vina, a tri se vinarije – Miloš, Križ i Bartulović – izdvajaju po svojoj viziji eko uzgoja autohtonih sorti loze plavac mali, rukatac i grk. Ove su obitelji pioniri Slow Fooda na Pelješcu, i uz obitelj Vukas, čine prezidij pelješkog varenika, tradicijskog proizvoda koji se pripravlja od kuhanog mošta plavca malog i čini okosnicu dubrovačke gastronomije. Od članova ovih četiriju obitelji, čije prisustvo na poluotoku seže u daleku prošlost, saznat ćete sve o povijesti ne samo vinarstva, već i stočarstva, maslinarstva i poljoprivrede općenito.

Slow Food-CE is a transnational cooperation project that seeks to improve the capacities of local, public and private actors in order to safeguard and give value to their gastronomic cultural heritage as part of a vision that integrates economic, environmental and social sustainability.

The project intends to create a transferable model that can give traditional foods their true value, through knowledge of their producers, plant varieties, animal breeds, traditional processing techniques, folklore, cultural landscape, and enhance the common food heritage of Central Europe, leading to a new alliance between five cities: Venice, Dubrovnik, Brno, Kecskemét and Krakow.
